SIMON LABARTHE

(+41)762303270 ◇ simon.labarthe@outlook.com

PRESENTATION

I intend to conduct a new master's thesis on the implications of ideologies and inequalities in the construction and legitimation of political violence. My aim is to continue this project at PhD level, joining a research group on armed conflict and establishing links with UNIDIR and CEDAW to take in depth action on peacebuilding.

FACULTY POSITIONS

ETH Zurich (ICR) & Swiss National Found October 2026 - December 2026
Research Assistant
Ethnic Power Relations (EPR) Dataset Family 2021
Data collection, Coding, Data processing
Prof. L. Cederman

University of Geneva & Swiss National Found June 2024 - July 2025
Research Assistant
External Differentiated Integration in the European Administrative Space
Data collection, Coding, Data processing
Prof. S. Lavenex, Dr. E. Guaschino

OTHER POSITIONS

UNO: Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights June 2025 - September 2025
Human Rights Internship
Preparation of technical papers for the Desk Officers (DOs)
Data collection
Assistance in meetings and conferences

EDUCATION

ETH Zurich September 2025 -
Master in Comparative and International Studies Overall average: 5.25/6
Teaching: Advanced Quantitative Methods, Data Science, Political Violence

University of Geneva September 2023 - June 2025
Master in Management and Public Administration Overall average: 5.27/6
Major: International Relations
Teaching: Applied Methods, Political Economy
Master thesis: national identities and values on militarization, large-N analysis, Prof. S. Hug 5.5/6

University of Leiden September 2024 - January 2025
Academic exchange
Teaching : International Law

University of Geneva September 2024 - June 2025
Certificate in Quantitative Methods (auditor) 5.5/6
Teaching: Panel Data, Cross-Sectional Data, Data collection, Advanced Statistics

University of Geneva September 2020 - August 2023
Bachelor in Political Science Overall average: 5.31/6
Major: Economics
Teaching: Quantitative Methods, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Bachelor thesis: Rise of Populism & Digital Issues, large-N analysis, evidence from Switzerland 6/6

University of Zurich January 2023 - August 2023
Academic Exchange
Teaching: Economic History, Macroeconomics

ESSAYS AND CONTRIBUTIONS

Simon Labarthe (2026) "`someRpackages`. A useful toolkit for data science and AI-supported coding methods."

Simon Labarthe (2026) "Do left-wing or female representatives reduce violence against women? RDD evidence from Brazil"

David Juttner, Simon Labarthe, & Nastassia Prastalo (2026) "Does World Cup Qualification Increase Nationalism? RDD evidence from 53 countries"

Simon Labarthe (2026) "Introducing a Militarised Insterstate Dispute Predicted Probabilities dataset"

Simon Labarthe (2026) "Economic inequality and democratic backsliding: a scoping review"

Simon Labarthe (2026) "Assessing the suffragist peace theory"

Simon Labarthe (2026) "Applying suffragist peace theory on militarization"

Simon Labarthe (2025) "Does gender quota really affect government spendings priority?"

AWARDS

University of Geneva's Prize for the best research project in the Bachelor's programme in Political Science. 2023

TECHNICAL STRENGTHS

Language	R, Python, LaTeX, HTML, CSS, Stata
Tools	Excel, Git, Github, Overleaf, Qualtrics, R Markdown, VSCode

LANGUAGE SKILLS

French	Mother tongue
English	Good written and oral skills
German	Written and oral skills

PROFILES

Github	`https://github.com/SimonLabarthe`
LinkedIn	`https://www.linkedin.com/in/simon-e-labarthe/?`
Website	`https://simonlabarthe.github.io/mysite/index.html`

last update: October 13, 2026